Zermatt, Switzerland, that being an entirely different kind, all snow capped peaks, no green whatever.' ¹

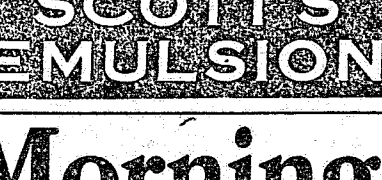

So far, in good common weather, no one has ever been disappointed in the view from the hill. From the top of 55 feet above the lake, between 3000 and 5300 feet in height and 70 others from 3000 feet down, not to include any foothills whatever. On clear days objects as far as the eye can see, at a distance can be noted, the Tip-Top House on Mt. Washington, 35 miles away and Mt. Specie, 32 miles away can be seen.

In a recent publication of the Harvard Forest Station, the lake is taken from this choice spot was shown as a typical expression of Maine's hardwood resources.

Many people enjoy this view but not had as many people see it as ought to. It is a high spot in Maine's scenery and in boasting Norway, we should not forget the beauty of Pike's Hill.

GOD'S OWN TEMPLE

What can be more wonderful than worshiping God in His own temple He created? Trees, flowers, birds, sea and sky, all created by his own hand.

One Sunday at Ferry Beach a group of people, both young and old, gathered to worship God in his own Temple, a grove of pine trees, surrounded on one side by the mighty Atlantic, with waves slapping against the sandy beach, on the other side by a group of hills, beyond which lay the fertile field of man and the wind whispering through the branches of the pines.

Here, indeed, was an ideal place to worship God in his own temple. Surrounded by his handiwork seems to bring you nearer Him in thought and spirit. Here in a little summer house with no sides but a roof, sit two of the ministers of God, Rev. Frank D. Adams and Rev. Ellisworth C. Reamon, who were to conduct the service.

The music swells in the air and mingles with the sound of the music the birds make, which sounds so sweet and clear that only a bird can make. A hymn is sung and you seem to sing with more vigor than ever, you think perhaps it is because you are out in the open and feel the presence of God.

The prayer is given by Dr. Adams and he delivers the message of God to the group of devoted people gathered there. Your thoughts are wandering around touching upon this and that thing. Meaning while the waves of the mighty Atlantic are rising and falling on the beach, the wind seeming to be whispering a prayer through trees to mingle with the prayer being given.

Rev. Mr. Reamon speaks of things and persons that made it possible for you one and all, to be gathered there. These words touch your heart strings making them vibrate with the message of God.

Compel you to think of father, mother and other dear ones far away at home and wish that God might be with them as he is with you. It seems as though Christ had gathered his people of this Institute like a general does his men before a battle to make clear to them the method of attack to be used in a battle. God too, must make clear to us, (through his ministers) method of attack to be used to win over even the darkest places of the earth to Christianity.

Rev. Mr. Reamon speaks of two men one a man of great personality and an easy flowing tongue, the other a sturdy and quiet son of the country. One seeking to reach his goal by the easiest method, without much effort on his part; the country fellow contented with taking second place and striving for his goal with his power and might.

The closing hymn is sung and the wind and trees joining in with their gentle music, the sound of the waves breaking in as the last few notes of the organ play out across the waters to the lighthouses beyond the mainland.

All these vivid others could have been there and taken in the service of God's Own Temple. Man may build mighty churches, but they will not be as grand as the ones he builds of nature.

Know Chevrolet Performance

POWER
Wherever hills are steepest, the fame of the Chevrolet motor is greatest—because it is built on the valve-in-head principle which provides all the power advantages of overhead direct firing.

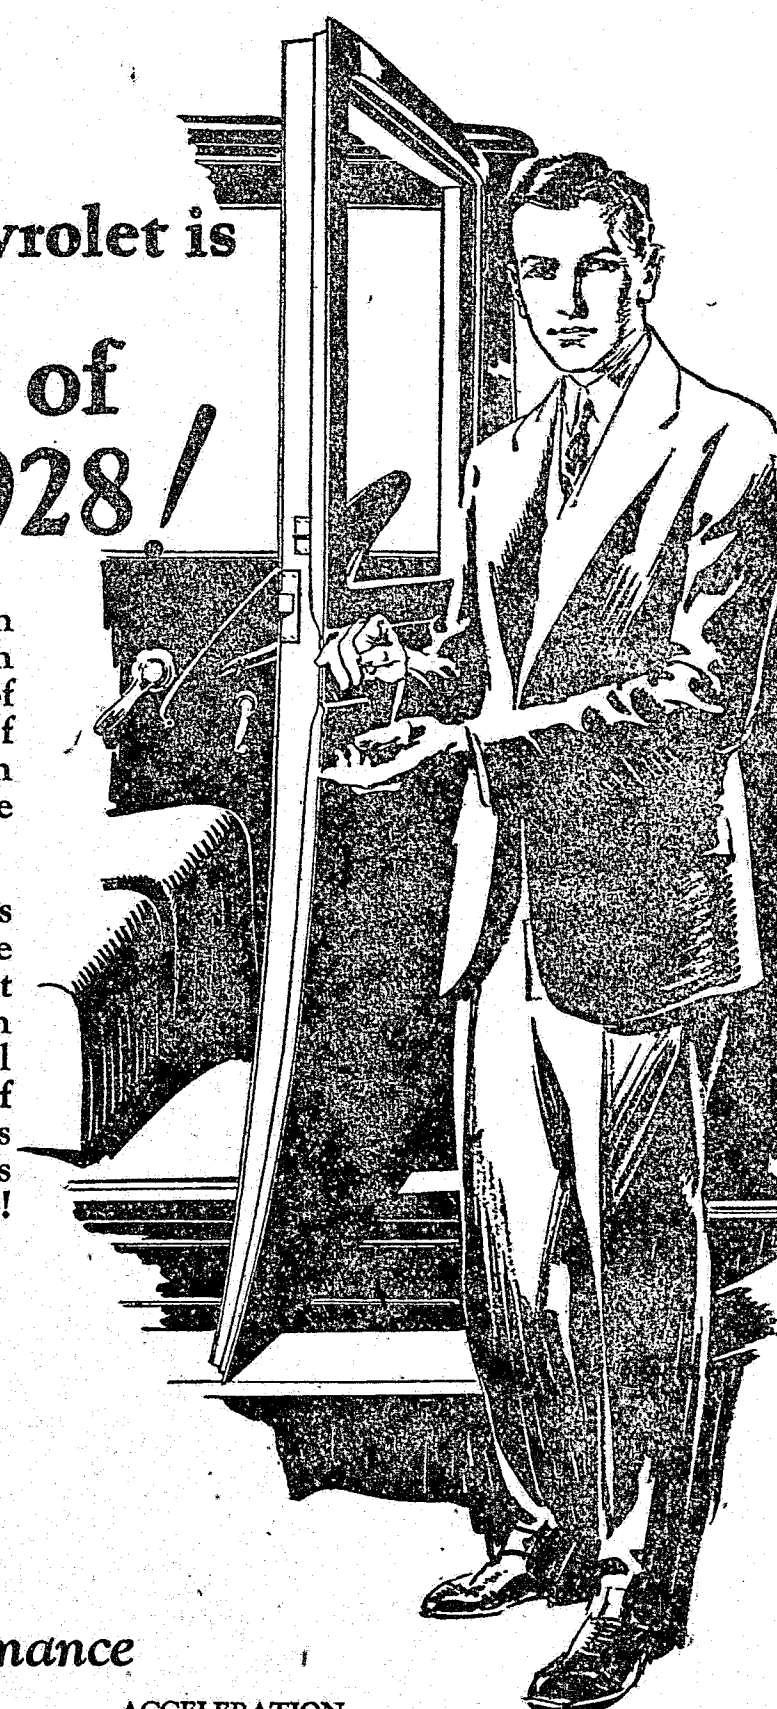

SMOOTHNESS
Chevrolet's delightful smoothness is achieved by the use of alloy invar-strut pistons, and by the accurate counter-balancing of reciprocating parts.

ACCELERATION
Chevrolet flashes out and away when you open the throttle because it offers the advantages of light invar-strut pistons, large valves, and carburetor equipped with an acceleration well.

PAUL IN A ROMAN PRISON

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:16-40.
GOLDEN TEXT—Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, Rejoice. PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in Jail. JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in Prison. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Source of Paul's Joy. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul as an Evangelist.

1. Paul and Silas in Jail (vv. 16-23).
As the missionaries went out from day to day to the place of prayer they were accosted by a young woman possessed by a spirit of divination. She was owned by a syndicate of men who derived large gains from her soothsaying. Her utterances as she followed the missionaries became a great annoyance to Paul, who in the name of Jesus Christ commanded the evil spirit to come out of her. The spirit in this maid testified that she was a slave of the Most High God and that she proclaimed the way of salvation. But Paul, like Jesus (Mark 5:7), would not have Satan's testimony. The evil spirit immediately obeyed Paul's command. When the demon was cast out, the supernatural power of the maid was gone, therefore the source of revenue was dried up. This so exasperated her owners that they brought Paul and Silas before the magistrates on the false charge of the changing of customs. It was not custom but the unlawful gain which was interfered with. There is always trouble when the unlawful business in which men are engaged is threatened.

2. Their behavior in Jail (v. 25).
Paul and Silas prayed and sang hymns to God. It seems quite natural that they should pray under such circumstances, but to sing hymns is astonishing to all who have not come into possession of the peace of God through Christ. Even with backs lacerated and smarting, and feet fast in the stocks compelling the most painful attitude, in the dungeon darkness of the inner prison with extreme uncertainty before them, their hearts went up to God in gratitude.

3. Their deliverance (v. 26).
The Lord wrought deliverance by sending a great earthquake which opened the prison doors and loosed their bonds.
4. The Conversion of the Jailer (vv. 27-34).
The jailer had small sympathy for the prisoners, for as soon as they were made secure, he went to sleep. Being suddenly aroused from slumber by the earthquake he was about to kill him self, whereupon Paul assured him that the prisoners were all safe. What he had heard of their preaching and what now he experienced caused him to come as a humble inquirer after salvation. He was convicted of sin and felt the need of the Savior. Paul clearly pointed the way to be saved, saying, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." The word "believe" means to trust and fully obey. The proof that the jailer was saved is threefold:

1. Transformation from brutality to tenderness (v. 28).
He who a little while ago could with impunity lay on the cruel lashes is now disposed to wash their wounds.
2. Confession of Christ in baptism (v. 33).
Those who have really been saved of sin and have experienced the saving grace of God delight to confess their faith in Him under all circumstances.
3. He set meat before them (v. 34).
His whole household baptized (v. 33).
When a man's family is willing to follow him, you may be sure that his conversion is genuine.

III. The Magistrates Humbled (vv. 35-40).
1. Orders to release the prisoners (vv. 35, 36).
The earthquake brought fear upon the magistrates and thus moved them to give leave for the prisoners to go.
2. Paul's refusal to go (v. 37).
The ground of his refusal was that their rights as Roman citizens had been violated. They demanded public vindication.
3. Brought out of prison by the officers (vv. 38, 39).
Because they were Roman citizens they were released, the magistrates fearing what they had done.
4. Returned to the house of Lydia (v. 40).
Upon their public vindication they left the prison and entered the house of Lydia, and after ministering comfort to the brethren, they departed.

God Will Aid

It is my habitual practice about little things to bring them before God. I never attempt to carry any burdens myself. I roll them on God, and speak to God about them—George Muller.

In days of old it was said that gold would be found at the end of the rainbow, but the end of this rainbow furnished many cunningly devised kitchen utensils, whose actual worth for the purpose intended, far transcended that of the fabulous metal.

When the shower was over, Miss Mildred Stanley assisted the hostess in serving refreshments which were partaken of with much gay chatter and merriment, in fact, to quote a much used phrase "a good time was enjoyed by all".

The guests departed with their several hopes that the hope that their dear friend Doris, in sunshine and shadow, might always see a bow of promise in the sky.

TO WASH WITH IRON WATER

Water containing iron which is liable to rust clothes and other materials can usually be improved for washing purposes by adding a little lime water to the water, stirring it thoroughly, allowing the iron to settle to the bottom, and then drawing off the clearest water for use.

Lime water is a safe solution and can be made easily and cheaply at home. Put a small lump of fresh quicklime (caustic lime) in a wooden pail and slack the lime by slowly adding about 30 times its weight of water. Stir or shake the mixture for about a half hour, allow it to settle, and throw away the liquid. Then add to the lime residue about 300 times its weight of water, stir it frequently for the next 24 hours, and allow the lime to settle. The clear water obtained above the undissolved lime is lime water. If kept for future use, this should be put in tightly corked containers.
